Dear VCDA Members, Colleagues and Friends,

This year has brought some much long anticipated socialization back into our communities. With conferences taking places in-person, it is so nice for the Vermont Community Development Association (VCDA) members to see one another face-to-face and continue our work together of improving and supporting economic sustainability and quality of life in Vermont.

Each year, the VCDA Board organizes two conferences that provide networking forums for planning, housing, economic and community development professionals as well as municipal leaders from across the state to share information, innovation, and best practices in their fields. We could not pull off these informative events without the support of active, engaged members.

VCDA's events this year are focused not only on challenges we see throughout the State, but also have an emphasis on strategies and solutions that communities can work towards to address these challenges. At the spring conference in Barre, we focused on Housing Solutions and our final Conference of the year will be held on December 6th in Randolph with a focus on the Changing Landscape of Infrastructure. There is still time to Register if you have not done so already!

Your support is more important now than ever, which is why we are writing today to ask you to RENEW or JOIN as a VCDA Member to support these efforts in 2022. To better track and stay in touch with our members, we are using a new JoinIt membership platform - click here to join or renew your membership with VCDA.

If you have questions or need additional information on membership, please contact Christine Golden at info@vtcda.org, one of the board members or visit VCDA's website: www.vtcda.org.

We hope we can count on your support in 2023!

The VCDA Board
